Pre-Disability Earnings	Means Your regular weekly rate of pay from Your Employer in effect on the date immediately prior to the date you became disabled. Pre-Disability Earnings includes any deductions made for pre-tax contributions to a qualified deferred compensation plan, Section 125 plan or flexible spending account and does not include commissions, bonuses, tips and tokens, overtime pay or any other fringe benefits or extra compensation.

The plan will not pay any benefit, or any increase in benefits, for any disability that results from, or is caused or contributed to by, a pre-existing condition, unless at the time you become disabled, you have been continuously insured for 12 consecutive months. Please see your insurance certificate for details.

Frequently Asked Questions

When can I enroll for coverage?	You can enroll when you are initially eligible, during any annual enrollment period, or within 31 days of a family status change. Evidence of insurability (also known as proof of good health) may be required. Please see your coverage certificate for details.

It depends on how much you are earning from your part-time work and whether or not the part-time work is part of an approved rehabilitation program. If the part-time work is part of an approved rehabilitation program, then we will reduce your Short-Term Disability benefit by one-half (1/2) of your part-time earnings. How long will I receive Short-Term Disability benefits for?	As long as you continue to meet the definition of disability, you can receive benefits for up to the maximum benefit period outlined in the "Coverage Details" section. For example, if your benefits commence on the 8th day of disability and you are disabled for 6 weeks, you would receive 5 weeks of benefit payments.

If you are paying the full cost of the plan with post-tax dollars, then your Short-Term Disability benefits may be non-taxable; however if your employer is paying the full cost or your contributions are on a pre-tax basis, then your benefits are generally taxable.
